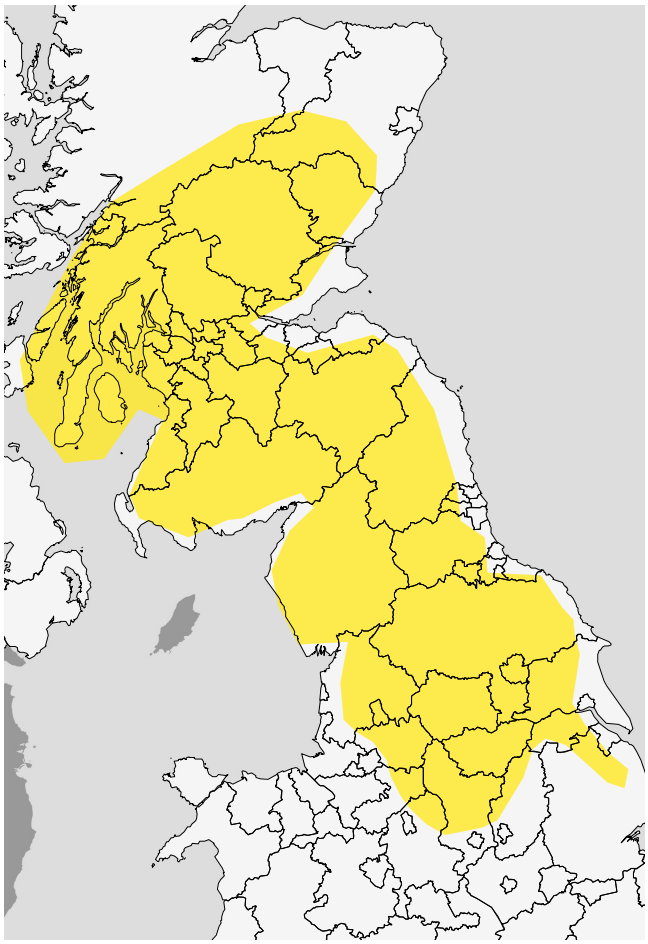
Yellow warning
Snow & Ice

Between
22:00 Mon 1 Feb 2021 and
23:59 Tue 2 Feb 2021



Snow, with a risk of widespread ice during Monday night and particularly Tuesday, bringing difficult travelling conditions.

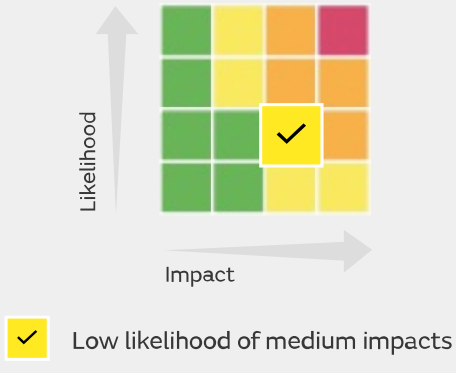
What to expect

- Possible travel delays on roads, stranding some vehicles and passengers, particularly on higher level routes across the Southern Uplands and Pennines
- Bus and train services potentially delayed or cancelled. Possible delays or cancellations to air travel
- Some higher rural communities could become cut off
- Power cuts may occur and other services, such as mobile phone coverage, may be affected
- A chance of injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces, with some pavements and cycle paths perhaps almost impassable

Further details

As rain pushes northeast and comes into contact with cold air, it will readily turn to snow away from eastern coastal districts. 1-3 cm of snow is likely across some low ground, with 5-10 cm in places across southern Scotland and above 150 m over northern England. 20 cm of snow could affect the highest level routes (above 300-400m), where drifting and temporary blizzard conditions may occur. Snow is likely to to turn to rain later on Tuesday across much of northern England.

As well as snow, some freezing rain is possible for parts of northern England. Should this occur widespread icy stretches would form.



✓ Low likelihood of medium impacts
